

ENG 2300 – FILM ANALYSIS (sec. 02E2), Summer A 2017

Instructor Name: Cristina Ruiz-Poveda

Course meeting times & locations: At ROL 0115. Class MTWRF 2 / Screenings MW 6-7

Office Location and Hours: Mondays and Wednesdays during period 3 and by appointment at TUR 4216.

Course website: Canvas

Instructor Email: cruizpoveda@ufl.edu

Course Description:

ENG 2300 will introduce you to film vocabulary and film analysis. Films take many forms and are shaped by a wide range of cultural conditions. In this course, you will learn how to analyze films and their forms by examining how moving images create meanings and communicate to audiences in a variety of cinematic contexts. You will develop your analytical skills in the context of film history and film theory, and you will learn to appreciate film as more than merely a form of entertainment. This course is not a film appreciation class; besides dealing with the pleasures of cinema, we will learn about film theory and study film as a cultural form.

In addition, this course will challenge you as a writer and a creator. Throughout the semester, you will develop techniques of persuasive writing as you work to compose compelling, evocative analyses of the films you view. You will also make small creative exercises to understand how films are articulated and to put in practice the concepts learned in class.

Course Goals and Outcomes: By the end of the semester you should be able to...

- Articulate how films create meanings through their formal elements
- Be aware of the power of cinematic language
- Understand film as a cultural product and form of knowledge rather than only entertainment
- Understand the creative production process of films
- Engage with films that depart from conventions that you may now take for granted
- Understand your own experience as a spectator
- Adapt your writing style to varied genres and audiences

General Education Objectives:

- This course confers General Education credit for either Composition (C) or Humanities (H). This course also fulfills 6,000 of the university's 24,000-word writing requirement (WR).
- Composition courses provide instruction in the methods and conventions of standard written English (grammar, punctuation, usage), as well as the techniques that produce effective texts. Composition courses are writing intensive. They require multiple drafts submitted to your instructor for feedback before final submission.
- Course content should include multiple forms of effective writing, different writing styles, approaches and formats, and methods to adapt writing to different audiences, purposes and contexts. Students should learn to organize complex arguments in writing using thesis statements, claims and evidence, and to analyze writing for errors in logic.
- The University Writing Requirement (WR) ensures students both maintain their fluency in writing and use writing as a tool to facilitate learning. To receive Writing Requirement credit, a student must receive a grade of C or higher and a satisfactory completion of the writing component of the course. This means that written assignments must meet minimum word requirements totaling 6000 words.

General Education Learning Outcomes:

At the end of this course, students will be expected to have achieved the following learning outcomes in content, communication and critical thinking:

- Content: Students demonstrate competence in the terminology, concepts, theories and methodologies used within the academic discipline.
- Communication: Students communicate knowledge, ideas and reasoning clearly and effectively in written and oral forms appropriate to the discipline. Students will participate in class discussions throughout the semester to reflect on assigned readings.
- Critical Thinking: Students analyze information carefully and logically from multiple perspectives, using discipline-specific methods, and develop reasoned solutions to problems.

Required Texts:

- Timothy Corrigan & Patricia White, The Film Experience (3rd Ed)
- The instructor will provide other required materials through Canvas.

Recommended Texts:

- Corrigan, Timothy. Short Guide to Writing About Film, 8th Boston: Pearson, 2012.
- Yale Film Analysis site. <http://filmanalysis.yctl.org/>

Assignments:

- Participation and preparedness - 15%
Students should be prepared to discuss the materials and actively participate in class activities. Group work is an important component of the participation grade. Absences, tardiness, and lack of preparedness will lower your participation grade. (See Course Policies, below.) Always bring the readings to class. You will take notes during the screenings on worksheets provided by the instructor, which will be part of the participation grade.
- Film Vocabulary Quiz(zes) - 10 % There might be unannounced reading quizzes to ensure you complete and understand the readings.
- Formal Responses (3 x 500 words, 1500 words total) - 20%
Brief responses about the film of the week or close readings of individual scenes with a focus on the topic covered in that unit (editing, sound...).
- Moon-watching Exercise (500 words) -10%
Using the technique described in the Duckworth reading, pick one scene from any of the films watched to date and record your observations of the scene for five days.
- Midterm Essay: (750-1000 words) - 20%
Essay questions about the films seen in class to prepare you for the final essay.
- Final Group Project: Film Analysis Essay and Presentation (3500 words) - 25%
Group research paper and presentation.
- Optional Extra Credit:
Short response to one of the film talks and events happening on campus or in Gainesville throughout the semester OR music in film activity.

Course Policies:

1. You must complete all assignments to receive credit for this course.
2. Attendance: This is a participation-driven course. Missing class will affect your grade negatively and it will deprive your classmates of your contribution to discussion.
 - Absence does not justify late submissions. If you are absent, it is your responsibility to remain informed and come to the next class prepared.
 - Five missed periods will result on a failing grade. This policy includes screening periods.
 - Justified absences only involve university-sponsored events, religious holidays, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements, military obligation, court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena), or campus closure. These absences must be discussed with the instructor in advance.
 - Being tardy or leaving early twice will count as an absence. Unjustified absences will lower your participation grade.
 - Communication with the instructor is crucial to avoid misunderstandings related to absences. These policies are consistent with the UF's attendance policies. For more information on these policies, please visit:
<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx> (Links to an external site.)
3. Paper Format & Submission:
 - Assignments should be submitted in MLA format, in Times New Roman 12-point font, double-spaced, 1" margins on all sides, name/instructor's name/course/date in upper left corner of first page, last name and page number located in top right of every page.
 - Assignments will be submitted online through the e-learning Canvas site by the assigned due date. If you experience technical problems, email your paper to cruizpoveda@ufl.edu to ensure that your instructor receives your work on time.
4. Late Papers/Assignments: Late submissions will not be accepted, unless one of the justified causes for absence is involved. Late work cannot be made up for a lower grade.
5. Paper Maintenance Responsibilities. Keep duplicate copies of all work submitted in this course. Save all returned, graded work until the semester is over.
6. Academic Honesty and Definition of Plagiarism. Plagiarism violates the Student Honor Code and requires reporting to the Dean of Students. All students must abide by the Student Honor Code: <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>.
7. Students with disabilities who are requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/), which will provide appropriate documentation to give the instructor.
8. For information on UF Grading policies, see:
<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>
9. Grade Appeals. In 1000- and 2000-level courses, students may appeal a final grade by filling out a form available from Carla Blount, Program Assistant, in the Department office (4008 TUR). Grade appeals may result in a higher, unchanged, or lower final grade.
10. Course Evaluations. Toward the end of the semester, you will receive email messages asking you to go online and evaluate this course: <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/evals/Default.aspx>
11. Classroom etiquette:
 - The use of cell phones, computers, or other electronic gadgets is not allowed. Please silence your phones. Texting in class will count as an absence.
 - UF policy prohibits students from eating in class. It is distracting and will make your classmates hungry!

- Integrity and diversity: Please keep in mind that UF students come from diverse cultural, economic, and ethnic backgrounds. This class is discussion-based, and conflicting opinions may arise. Some of the texts and films we will discuss engage in controversial topics and opinions, sometimes representing violence or controversial situations graphically. Diverse student backgrounds combined with sometimes provocative texts require that you demonstrate respect for ideas that may differ from your own. Active learning requires students to respectfully engage with each other's opinions. In addition, a truly responsive learning environment requires the teacher to adapt to the students' needs. Make mindful use of the opportunities provided by your instructor to improve the class and adapt the materials to the group.

12. Screening policy:

- To analyze films successfully you should be actively engaged during the viewing. Take notes during the screening to be prepared for class discussion and response essays. The instructor will provide worksheets for each screening that will be evaluated throughout the semester.
- Keep in mind that some of the films might contain "adult" themes, explicit language, sexual scenes, or physical and verbal violence. If you suspect that any of the films contains scenes you cannot watch with a group, you may ask the instructor about watching the film on your own.
- Use of cell-phones is NOT PERMITTED during the screenings either. Cell phone use will result in being marked absent for the period.

13. Students who face difficulties completing the course or who are in need of counseling or urgent help may call the on-campus Counseling and Wellness Center (352) 392-1575, or contact them online: <http://www.counseling.ufl.edu/cwc/Default.aspx>

14. You can contact me via email or during my office hours. Please allow 24 hours to respond. If my office hours do not work for you, we can schedule an appointment.

15. UF's policy on Harassment: UF provides an educational and working environment that is free from sex discrimination and sexual harassment for its students, staff, and faculty: <http://hr.ufl.edu/manager-resources/recruitment-staffing/institutional-equity-diversity/resources/harassment/>

Grade Scale and Rubric:

A: You fulfilled the guidelines of the assignments properly, and your work shows originality and creativity. Your papers demonstrate that you took extra steps to compose your writing by integrating ideas studied in class. A range papers must be free of typos and grammatical errors. You read the assigned materials, write interesting and well-thought responses, and engage in productive class discussion.

B: You fulfilled the guidelines of the assignments. Your work has a few minor grammar or spelling errors, but is complete and well organized. Your papers incorporate critical concepts studied in class, but it is slightly ineffective due to formal errors or to weak arguments. You read the materials, write correct responses, and participate in class.

C: You fulfilled the guidelines of the assignments but your work needs significant revision. Your papers are logical in content, but your writing is wrong. You sometimes fail to read the materials, write basic responses, and you participate in class with superficial contributions.

D: You neglected basic requirements of the assignments and completed them at a poor quality level. Your papers need significant revision. The content is incomplete and the organization unclear. You do not address concepts studied in class in depth. You barely do the readings, your responses are very poor or inexistent, and you do not participate in class.

E: An E is usually reserved for people who do not do the work or do not come to class. However, students will earn an E if their work clearly shows little effort, if they do not communicate with the instructor about their work or absences, and if they don't read the materials.

A	93-100	B	83-86	C	73-76	D	63-66
A-	90-92	B-	80-82	C-	70-72	D-	60-62
B+	87-89	C+	77-79	D+	67-69	E	0-59
