Office: TBD
Office Hours: M & T 11:00 AM – 12:30 PM, or by appointment

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

This survey course serves as an introduction to well-known texts and authors of American literature, stretching from the 16th century to the present. Students will engage with graphic novels, poetry, short fiction, essays, governmental documents, and novels presented with their social, historical, cultural, racial, and economic context. The goal of this course is to broaden each student’s understanding of American literature and deepen their understanding of the cultural, historical, and racial contexts that shaped American literature and American nationalism. It is also to illustrate that American literature is, and has always been, multicultural.

To guide our discussions and readings throughout the semester, we will grapple with the following questions: (1) What does it mean to be an American? (2) Is there such a thing as an American identity? (3) How does the contributions of artists and writers of color problematize or reconceptualize the American identity, in particular: normative notions of class, gender, race, nation/nationality, sexuality, and hierarchy/power? (4) How do these contributions decolonize, revise, or expand the U.S. literary canon and U.S. “high” culture? With these questions in mind, this class will attempt to sort through just a tiny portion of what can be considered “American Literature.”

GENERAL EDUCATION OBJECTIVES

- This course confers General Education credit for either Composition (C) or Humanities (H). This course also fulfills 6,000 of the university’s 24,000-word writing requirement (WR).
- Course content should include multiple forms of effective writing, different writing styles, approaches and formats, and methods to adapt writing to different audiences, purposes and contexts. Students should learn to organize complex arguments in writing using thesis statements, claims and evidence, and to analyze writing for errors in logic.
- The University Writing Requirement (WR) ensures students both maintain their fluency in writing and use writing as a tool to facilitate learning. To receive Writing Requirement credit, a student must receive a grade of C or higher and a satisfactory completion of the writing component of the course. This means that written assignments must meet minimum word requirements totaling 6000 words.

GENERAL EDUCATION LEARNING OUTCOMES

At the end of this course, students will be expected to have achieved the following learning outcomes in content, communication and critical thinking:
• Content: Students demonstrate competence in the terminology, concepts, theories and methodologies used within the academic discipline.

• Communication: Students communicate knowledge, ideas and reasoning clearly and effectively in written and oral forms appropriate to the discipline. Students will participate in class discussions throughout the semester to reflect on assigned readings.

• Critical Thinking: Students analyze information carefully and logically from multiple perspectives, using discipline-specific methods, and develop reasoned solutions to problems.

COURSE POLICIES

1. You must complete all assignments to receive credit for this course.
2. Attendance and Punctuality Policies:
   - You must handle gathering any notes, handouts, or assignments that you miss due to an absence. However, I am more than happy to answer any questions about missed material during office hours or during an appointment. I only grant excused absences for university-approved reasons and religious holidays. If you will be missing class for either of these reasons, you must notify me at least 48 hours in advance. Moreover, if you’re missing class for university-approved reasons, you must submit documentation for your absence(s) within a week of your absence.

- For any other missed classes, I do not make distinctions between excused and unexcused absences (this includes absences due to emergency and/or illness). You may miss four class sessions over the course of the semester without negatively impacting your final grade. Because this course meets for two blocks on Tuesdays and one block on Thursday, Tuesday absences will be counted as two absences.
- In accordance with the University of Florida’s policy (which can be found at https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx), if a student misses more than five periods during a fall or spring semester, he or she will fail the entire course. Missing class on a double period counts as two absences. Exceptions to this policy include only those absences involving university-sponsored events, such as athletics and band, and religious holidays. Absences related to university-sponsored events must be discussed with the instructor prior to the date that will be missed.

3. Paper Format & Submission: All papers will be submitted as MS Word (.doc/.docx) documents to E-learning. Final drafts should be polished and presented in a professional manner. All papers must be in 12-point Times New Roman font, double-spaced with 1-inch margins and pages numbered, and follow MLA 8 guidelines. Be sure to staple papers before submitting hard copies.

4. Late Papers/Assignments: Unless an extension is granted before the due date, late assignments will be accepted with a 10% deduction for every day the paper is late. No late assignments will be accepted more than 5 days beyond the due date. In-class reading quizzes cannot be made up.

5. Paper Maintenance Responsibilities. Keep duplicate copies of all work submitted in this course. Save all returned, graded work until the semester is over.

6. Academic Honesty and Definition of Plagiarism. Plagiarism violates the Student Honor Code and requires reporting to the Dean of Students. All students must abide by the Student Honor Code: https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sscr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/.

7. Students with disabilities who are requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/), which will provide appropriate documentation to give the instructor.

8. For information on UF Grading policies, see: https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx

9. Grade Appeals. In 1000- and 2000-level courses, students may appeal a final grade by filling out a form available from Carla Blount, Program Assistant, in the Department office (4008 TUR). Grade appeals may result in a higher, unchanged, or lower final grade.

10. Course Evaluations. Toward the end of the semester, you will receive email messages asking you to go online and evaluate this course: https://evaluations.ufl.edu/evals/Default.aspx

11. Students who face difficulties completing the course or who are in need of counseling or urgent help may call the on-campus Counseling and Wellness Center (352) 392-1575, or contact them online: http://www.counseling.ufl.edu/cwc/Default.aspx
12. UF’s policy on Harassment: UF provides an educational and working environment that is free from sex discrimination and sexual harassment for its students, staff, and faculty: http://hr.ufl.edu/manager-resources/recruitment-staffing/institutional-equity-diversity/resources/harassment/
