Course Description

This Survey of American Literature course will explore an array of authors and forms representing the American gothic tradition. As counter-narratives challenging the normalcy of the U.S.'s official national story, the Gothic opens a space for questioning and investigating unutterable anxieties and desires of public and private spheres. In its conventions, the Gothic figures a series of unstable dialectics: between civility and barbarism, between secularism and spirituality, between dominance and marginality between progress and decadence, between present and past, and between sanity and lunacy. In the works of authors such as Edgar Allan Poe, Charles W. Chestnut, Kate Chopin, Nella Larsen, Chester Himes, and Octavia Butler, we will investigate how Gothic fiction responds historically and transhistorically to events and trends of the human condition. We will draw upon the critical and theoretical approaches of Marxism, psychoanalysis, feminism, critical race theory, and post/structuralism to craft lenses to help us define the Gothic as we delve into the genre's ambiguous boundaries.

Course Assignments and Evaluation

Complete assignment prompts with their corresponding rubrics are located within the E-learning/Canvas course site.

Analytical Reading Responses	20%
Responses help students develop close reading skills. In each analytical response, students will propose arguments to specified prompts. Your responses will provide concise, developed analyses establishing dialectics with class discussions and readings. After initial postings, students are required to provide meaningful comments to at least two of their classmates' posts.
Close Reading Assessments	30%
A midterm and a final assessment will evaluate how well students closely read and analyze the course texts. Through identifications and critiques, students will demonstrate knowledge of the texts and understanding of literary terminology.
Discussion Leader Presentation	5%
Each student will conduct one presentation on a critical article relating to topics from the course readings. The presentation will demonstrate analytical assessments and responses that lead to critical discussion questions to build methodologies for probing specific themes and tropes.
Critical Analysis Essay	25%
Selecting among literary texts in the course, students will demonstrate critical reading, information synthesis, and comparative analysis. Students will provide a brief proposal to generate ideas for their prospective research to prepare for their critical analysis.
Participation	20%
Participation includes attendance, assigned readings, progress conferences, homework, in-class writing and oral activities, and class discussions. In this discussion-based course, students are expected to regularly make significant and thoughtful contributions.

General Assessment Rubric

A	Insightful: You did what the assignment asked for at a high quality level, with care and precision, and your work shows originality and creativity. Work in this range shows all the qualities listed below for a “B,” but it also demonstrates that you took extra steps to be original or creative in developing content, solving a problem, or developing a style. Work in the “A” range is not only correct and intriguing, but also illuminating. Since careful editing and proofreading are essential in writing, papers in the A range must be free of typos and grammatical or mechanical errors.
B	Proficient: You did what the assignment asked of you at a high quality level. Work in this range is competent, thoughtful, and considered, but it needs revision. To be in the “B” range, an essay must be complete in content, be well organized, and show special attention to style.
C	Satisfactory: You did what the assignment asked of you and demonstrated that you have a generalized comprehension of the ideas/films/essays you’re working with. Work in this range needs significant revision, but it is complete in content and the organization is logical. Diction may be imprecise or unclear. The style is straightforward but unremarkable.
D	Poor: You did what the assignment asked of you at a poor quality level. Work in this range needs significant revision. The content is often incomplete and/or the organization is hard to discern. Support is irrelevant, overgeneralized, lacks validity, and/or is absent. Ideas/texts are oversimplified. Work in this range may have no thesis statement, or may stray significantly from the thesis throughout the essay. Attention to style is often nonexistent or uneven.
E	An E is usually reserved for people who don't do the work, or don't come to class, or those who have plagiarized. However, if your work shows little understanding of the needs of the assignment or demonstrates that you put little effort in completing it, you will receive a failing grade.

Course Policies

Participation and Attendance

Regular attendance and active participation are crucial and required. Class participation includes contributing to class discussions; coming to class on time, prepared with books, articles, handouts, and homework; preparing for in-class activities; providing adequate drafts for group work; collaborating and participating in group activities; and overall working and paying close attention to the lectures and activities of the classroom. In general, students are expected to contribute constructively in each class session.

In this course we will follow a strict attendance policy. You will lose 10% of course participation points for each absence beyond three periods. If you miss more than six periods during the term, you will fail the entire course. Missing double-period class meetings constitutes two absences. The university exempts from this policy only those absences involving university-sponsored events, such as athletics and band, and religious holidays. Absences related to university-sponsored events must be discussed with me prior to the date that will be missed. Absences, even for extraordinary reasons will result in missing work that cannot be made up; therefore, you can expect absences to have a negative impact on grades. For more information on

UF's attendance policies, see:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>. _

Please Note: If you are absent, it is your responsibility to make yourself aware of all due dates and required work. You will not earn credit for any in-class activity you miss due to absence. If absent due to a scheduled event, you are still responsible for turning assignments in on time.

Tardiness: Tardiness creates a problem for the entire class since it can disrupt work in progress. Tardiness will be reflected in lost participation points.

Classroom Conduct

Please treat your classmates and myself with respect. Keep in mind that UF students come from diverse cultural, economic, and ethnic backgrounds. Some of the texts we will discuss and write about engage controversial topics and opinions. Diversified student backgrounds combined with provocative texts require that you demonstrate respect for ideas that may differ from your own. Disrespectful behavior will result in dismissal, and accordingly absence, from the class. Any use of electronic devices not related to classroom learning: phones, personal data assistants, iPods, etc. are disruptive and will not be tolerated. Please put them on silent and keep them out of sight.

Assignment Maintenance Responsibilities

You are responsible for maintaining copies of all work submitted in this course and retaining all returned, marked work until the semester is over. Should the need arise for a resubmission of papers or a review of marked papers, it is your responsibility to have and to make available this material.

Late Work Policy and Mode of Submission

I do not accept late work. All papers will be submitted as MS Word (.doc or .docx) documents to E-learning/Canvas by 11:00pm on the designated due date. I may consider extenuating circumstances, but you must contact me at least twenty-four hours before the assignment is due. All assignments and postings should be polished and presented in a professional manner. All papers must be in 12-point Times New Roman font, single-spaced with 1-inch margins and numbered pages.

Final Grade Appeals

Students may appeal a final grade by filling out a form available from Carla Blount, Program Assistant in Department of English. Grade appeals may result in a higher, unchanged, or lower final grade.
