Office Location and Hours: Thursday 12:45 - 1:45 or by appointment

This course is designed to teach students the skills to read and write poetry. Through lectures, class discussions, and assigned readings students will acquire the ability to thoughtfully and critically examine a poem. By participating in class workshops students will apply these skills to their peer's work as well as their own.

During the first part of the semester, students will read and discuss poetry while becoming familiar with literary devices and sensitive to the sounds and rhythms of poetry. Students will be expected to annotate the assigned poems and come to class prepared to discuss them. Developing these skills will be important for the second part of the course, where, in addition to reading assigned poems, students will submit their own poetry and workshop their peers' poems.

This course fulfills the University's 6,000 word requirement in addition to the 12 poems you'll write throughout the semester, 10 revised poems for your final portfolio.

General Education Objectives:

- This course confers General Education credit for Composition (C), and also fulfills 6,000 of the university's 24,000-word writing requirement (WR).
- The University Writing Requirement (WR) ensures students both maintain their fluency in writing and use writing as a tool to facilitate learning. To receive Writing Requirement credit, a student must receive a grade of C or higher and a satisfactory completion of the writing component of the course. This means that written assignments must meet minimum word requirements totaling 6000 words.

General Education Learning Outcomes:

At the end of this course, students will be expected to have achieved the following learning outcomes in content, communication and critical thinking:

- Content: Students demonstrate competence in the terminology, concepts, theories and methodologies used within the academic discipline.
- Communication: Students communicate knowledge, ideas and reasoning clearly and effectively in written and oral forms appropriate to the discipline. Students will participate in class discussions throughout the semester to reflect on assigned readings.
- Critical Thinking: Students analyze information carefully and logically from multiple perspectives, using discipline-specific methods, and develop reasoned solutions to problems.

Course Policies:

1. You must complete all assignments to receive credit for this course.
2. Attendance: Consistent with ETF's attendance policies: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

This class meets once a week. Missing one class means missing an entire week. After three 50-minute unexcused absences, or the equivalent (as in, missing one and a half classes this semester) your course grade will be lowered.

UF's attendance policies details what is an acceptable absence, and I honor that policy, but I ask that if you miss a class for an acceptable reason you contact me as soon as possible so as to not be penalized.

If you miss 2 weeks of class, (two 3-hour absences) you will automatically fail this course.

Being more than five minutes late to class lowers your class participation grade by 10 points.

3. Paper Format & Submission :

I require printed copies and Canvas submissions. You will receive comments back on your printed copies, and on Canvas when applicable.

Poems and response papers should be in 12 pt. Times New Roman font, with 1" margins. Your name, this class number, and the title of the assignment should appear in the upper right-hand corner. Everything must have a title.

If your submission is not in this correct format, you will be penalized 5%.

4. Late Paper s/Assignments:

I do not accept late work.

I will consider extensions only in extenuating circumstances with advance notice and documentation.

5. Paper Maintenance Responsibilities. Keep duplicate copies of all work submitted in this course. Save all returned, graded work until the semester is over.

6. Academic Honesty and Definition of Plagiarism. Plagiarism violates the Student Honor Code and requires reporting to the Dean of Students. All students must abide by the Student Honor Code: <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/scsr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>.

DESCRIPTION OF ASSIGNMENTS

PARTICIPATION

Throughout the semester you can lose participation points by:

- Being late to class. (-10 points)
- Not having the required books (-5 points)

- Not bringing poems to turn in (-5 points) * unless granted an extension by me ahead of time
- Not bringing workshop poems (-5 points)
- Not participating in class discussions (-5 points)

RESPONSE PAPERS : These are your chance to write critically about the work that we have been reading and discussing. In these assignments you will employ literary devices to create a thoughtfully developed critique of the reading. You may focus on one poem in the assigned reading, put two together in communication, or address the collection as a whole. You are allowed to use quotes from the poems or text, but must cite these quotes in MLA format. Quoted material should not exceed 10% of the reflection.

12 POEM DRAFTS: Throughout the semester you will be given ten prompts out of which you will produce ten poems. If all the directions are followed within the prompt and the poem is formatted corrected you will receive full credit. Also, throughout the semester you must turn in two “extra” poems—for these, you can write anything you wish. If it is apparent no effort was put into a poem it will receive no credit. Poems must always be turned in as a hard copy AND on canvas.

1. To receive credit, poems must:
2. have 1” margins and be single spaced
3. be left-justified (not center- or right-, although indentation and other variations in form are allowed depending on the prompt for the week)
4. be written in Times New Roman font, size 12
5. have a title
6. have your name, the date, and the assignment number at the top right of the page
7. Poems must fulfill the prompts given.
8. Poems must be written in complete sentences (if you eliminated the line breaks, the text would read coherently and be grammatically correct). No fragments are allowed.
9. These poems are graded on fulfillment of the prompt & adherence to formatting guidelines and effort in creativity, polish, and originality.

LEADING CLASS DISCUSSION: This assignment requires each student to sign-up for a day when they will lead a class discussion about the assigned poet for that particular week. poem. The student is responsible for giving a brief biography on the poet, giving us a close reading of a poem, and then presenting the class with provoking questions that will stimulate our discussion.

FINAL PORTFOLIO

This is the culmination of your work. It will consist of 10 poems that showcase what you have written this semester.

Artist 's Statement & Reflection Letter (1,000 wordsj .

This will be the introduction to your portfolio and will be the space where you reflect and justify the poems you have created over the semester. Here you will address how certain poets have influenced your work in specific ways. You may identify strengths in your writing, and weaknesses as well. You will discover and discuss themes or ideas that work to create a cohesive set of poems in this portfolio.

Final Portfolio of Poems (10 poems)

The final portfolio will include 10 poems, which have been revised from the original and take into account my feedback and the feedback of your peers. Learning to edit your own work is an important component in this class, and vital skill for any writing you do in the future. You'll be graded on the quality of the poem & its improvement from the original.

EXTRA CREDIT OPPORTUNITIES

Students may earn extra credit by attending the MFA@FLA reading series—readings of original poetry and fiction by students in UF's Masters in Fine Arts in creative writing program.

These readings take place roughly Thursdays at 8 p.m. at The Bull downtown and last approximately 1 hour. I will e-mail you the schedule for dates, which you will be responsible for marking on your own calendar.

Each reading attended (with a short paragraph, about 50 words, reviewing the experience) is worth 5 points of extra credit.

You may submit these reflections on Canvas.
