Notes:

1. Each student chooses and works with a scene partner during the semester. Scene assignments will be made at the first and second class meetings. Scene work must be performed on the day assigned since the scene work is the “text” of that day’s class; scene work cannot be rescheduled. Scene work must be off-book.

If one of the scene partners cannot make it on the day the scene is due, I will take his or her part, giving some compensation to the actor who does perform since that actor will be working with someone “new.” The partner who was unable to perform must do the scene later in my office, during office hours, with my taking the role of his or her partner. That actor must also hand in, at the time of the office performance, a ten-page paper on an assigned topic (on the play in question), as well as the 2-3 page paper (see #2 below) normally written about the actor’s experience rehearsing the scene with a partner. The grade for scene work will be the average of the performance, the short paper, and the ten-page paper.

2. At the time of your performance with your scene partner, hand in (please do not send it by e-mail!) a 2-3-page paper, where you discuss your experience during rehearsals. Not just an account, the paper should be an assessment of what you learned, what “discoveries” you made, the way the scene evolved during rehearsals. The paper should be specific, rooted in the script, and should be geared to the dialogue as it evolves in the scene. General points should always be grounded in these specifics. See below for some more detailed comments about what makes a “good paper.”

3. At the next class meeting after your performance, your paper will be returned—with two grades. One is for your acting, the other for the paper. If the two grades are 5 or less points apart, you will be given the higher grade; if they are more than 5 points apart, you will be given the average of the two. The grading scale is: F-- anything 59 or below; D--60-66, D+-67-69; C- --70-72, C--73-76, C+--77-79; B- --80-82, B--83-86, B+--87-89; A--90-92, A--93-100.

Note that the student who has missed the scheduled scene and thereby performs in my office, will write two papers (see #1 above), and receives a grade averaging both papers and the scene work.

Please note that there are no provisions made for extra-credit work or for redoing existing work. The final grade is the average of all the individual scene work-paper grades.

4. Attendance is required at every class meeting, and will be taken by the “stage manager” (a student who has volunteered for this position) during the class. Each student is allowed 2 excused absences. Excuses must be made at least one day ahead of time by Professor Homan, preferably by e-mail: shakes@ufl.edu. Excuses made the day of the absence, let alone after the fact, cannot be accepted. In very, very rare cases a student can be excused for more than two class meetings, but this must also be approved ahead of time.

For each unexcused absence, the student’s grade will be lowered by a letter. Please note there are no exceptions to this. If you miss a class without being excused, the stage manager will e-mail you about this later in the same day.

5. No cell phones, I-Pads, laptops, or other electronic devices are allowed during class. These classes are really rehearsals, where if you are not s you are still part of the company, observing and commenting on your fellow actors. If you need to take notes, please do so with a pencil and paper.

Professor Homan’s office hours are Wednesday, period 4 (10:40-11:30 AM) in 4109 Turlington; his e-mail address is: shakes@ufl.edu.

Books required: any good single edition (or individual editions) of the following plays by Shakespeare: Hamlet, Macbeth, Othello, A Midsummer Night’s Dream, Twelfth Night, Much Ado about Nothing, The Taming of the Shrew, The Merchant of Venice, Sonnets.

And Tom Stoppard, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead (Grove Press).

Some Suggestions for Writing Papers on Scene Work:

1. Try to work as closely with the dialogue, the actual script as possible, and back up every general point with reference to the script.
2. Go through the entire scene, most often in sequence, both the dialogue and what gestures and movement you chose. The focus should be on your character (sub-text, object) and your choices as an actor in enacting that character—all this rooted in a detailed analysis of the actual lines.
3. Don’t just say what happens or what is said, and don’t just explicate or “translate” the words and lines. Rather, discuss the script in terms of: a. your actor’s choices; b. the character’s object (what he or she is after), and c. the character’s subtext (what the character is thinking and saying to himself or herself beneath the dialogue).
4. Don’t spend time setting up the paper, talking about how and where you met, chatting about topics not immediately linked to the script—get right to the scene in question.
5. Your “text” is ultimately not the script itself, not even the playwright’s words, but your actor’s/director’s take on the script and on your character as he or she exists in the script.
6. Have some sense of the larger play, and of the character’s role in that larger play, but make sure you don’t jump too far from your specific scene. The largest part of your paper should be spent on your particular scene.
7. Be sure that one paragraph follows logically from the preceding one; and make sure there are segues not only between paragraphs but between sections of the individual paragraph—and, for that matter, segues from one sentence to the next.

8. You can be informal as you wish, and can use the first person—but observe all the rules of good writing, from spelling to punctuation, from clear word choice to correct grammar.

9. Some students divide their papers in two parts:

the first on the play as seen by the character (and this would include the character's sub-text, objectives, sense of self). Some students even use the personal pronoun "I" as if the character himself or herself was addressing the reader;

the second half on the conscious decision you made as an actor, from blocking to delivery to gestures.

A Midsummer Night's Dream, 1.1.1-11:

Theseus: Now, fair Hippolyta, our nuptial hour / Draws on apace. Four happy days bring in / Another moon; but O, methinks, how slow / This old moon wanes! She, lingers my desires / Like to a step-dame, or a dowager, / Long withering out a young man's revenue.

Hippolyta: Four days will quickly steep themselves in night. / Four nights will quickly dream away the time / And then the moon, like to a silver bow / New bent in heaven, shall behold the night of our solemnities.

CHARACTERS :

FLO

RU

(Age undeterminable)

Sitting centre side by side stage right to left FLO, VI and RU. Very erect, facing front, hands clasped in laps. Silence.

VI : When did we three last meet?

RU : Let us not speak. [Silence. Exit VI right. Silence.]

FLO : Ru.

RU : Yes.

FLO : What do you think of Vi?

RU : I see little change. [FLO moves to centre seat, whispers in RU's ear. Appalled.] Oh! [They look at each other. FLO puts her finger to her lips,] Does she not realize?

FLO : God grant not. [Enter VI. FLO and RU turn back front, resume pose. VI sits right. Silence.] Just sit together as we used to, in the playground at Miss Wade's. RU : On the log. [Silence. Exit FLO left. Silence.] Vi.

VI : Yes.

RU: How do you find FLO?

VI : She seems much the same. [RU moves to centre seat, whispers in VI's ear. Appalled.] Oh! [They look at each other. RU puts her finger to her lips.] Has she not been told?

RU : God forbid. [Enter FLO. RU and VI turn back front, resume pose. FLO sits left.] Holding hands . . . that way.

FLO : Dreaming of . . . love. [Silence. Exit RU right. Silence.]

VI : Flo.

FLO : Yes.

VI : How do you think Ru is looking?

FLO : One sees little in this light. [VI moves centre seat, whispers in FLO's ear. Appalled.] Oh! [They look at each other. VI puts her finger to her lips.] Does she not know?

VI : Please God not. [Enter RU. VI and FLO turn back front, resume pose. RU sits right. Silence.] May we not speak of the old days? [Silence.] Of what came after? [Silence.] Shall we hold hands in the old way?

FLO: I can feel the rings. [Silence.]

CURTAIN

Prospero's Epilogue in The Tempest

Now my charms are all o'erthrown,
And what strength I have's mine own,
Which is most faint: now, 'tis true,
I must be here confined by you,
Or sent to Naples. Let me not,
Since I have my dukedom got
And pardon'd the deceiver, dwell
In this bare island by your spell;
But release me from my bands
With the help of your good hands:
Gentle breath of yours my sails
Must fill, or else my project fails,
Which was to please. Now I want
Spirits to enforce, art to enchant,

And my ending is despair,
Unless I be relieved by prayer,
Which pierces so that it assaults
Mercy itself and frees all faults.
As you from crimes would pardon'd be,
Let your indulgence set me free.
