Tuesday, 8-9 (3:00 PM – 4:55 PM)

Thursday, 9 (4:05 PM – 4:55 PM)

TURLINGTON 2334

The course will introduce students to the rich history of Jewish cinema and the latest critical and theoretical literature about it. It will be organized thematically, and chronologically, starting with the topics of Jewish Diaspora, emigration to the US and integration, the first sound film, and then films about the Holocaust, comedy, Israeli Cinema. During the course, we will screen and discuss films involved with the representation of the Jews (not necessarily made by Jewish American cineastes like Charlie Chaplin's The Great Dictator and Inglorious Basterds by Quentin Tarantino) and those of course made by prominent Jewish American filmmakers. The course will cover the screening and discussion of classics such as Fiddler on the Roof, or Barbara Streisand's Yentl (together with reading the novel by Sholem Aleichem and the story by Isaac Bashevis Singer on which each film was respectively based); the extensive analysis of the first sound movie, The Jazz Singer with Al Jolson, including critical and theoretical responses by Irvin Howe and Susan Gubar; Schindler's List by Steven Spielberg and The Pianist by Roman Polanski. Jewish humor in cinema will be discussed (Billy Wilder, Some Like It Hot; and Mel Brooks—The Producers, Blazing Saddles). Special attention will be dedicated to women filmmakers, such as Barbara Streisand, Susan Seidelman, and Amie Heckerling. The course will conclude with the Coen Brothers' film Serious Men. This list is not exhaustive, and may change during the course to include, for example, documentaries about Israeli cinema or filmmakers' biographies. The course will also make use of the Jewish Film Festival organized by the Center for Jewish Studies during the Fall (the program will be distributed) and screen and discuss the current International Jewish Film Production. Learning goals: the students will learn to think critically about the seminal films of Jewish, Israeli and Jewish-American Cinema, and essays about them.

Students will be expected to write short summaries of each film screened, which will count towards their class attendance and homework (10%) and group presentation participation (30% of the grade). There will be a mid-term (30%) and a final paper (30%). Collective class presentations will be assigned, to include reports from Jewish Film Festival. Attendance is obligatory. The Honors Code and the Flu/Covid Policy of the University of Florida will be observed. The syllabus is not final, and may be changed during the course of the semester according to the needs of the class and the benefit of the students. Any changes will be sent duly ahead of time in writing via the class listserv and or canvas.

Please consult your UF email regularly as well as Canvas for announcements about the class and class assignments. Course material will be distributed via listserv and or canvas.

The class will also on occasion meet via ZOOM, to be announced on Canvas and via listserv. Please plan to attend all meetings. Two absences during the semester are allowed without excuse. Other absences will require written excuse such as a doctor's note.

Major Jewish Religious Holidays are observed.
